

CASA LAVANDA COOKIE POLICY

Cookie Policy:

Lavanda TURİZM Ltd. Şti. (hereinafter referred to as “CASA LAVANDA”) protects personal data used in the website in order to make sure that all users, including the Members, make use of the services securely and completely.

Cookies are used for displaying custom contents and product/service ads to all users browsing www.casalavanda.com (hereinafter referred to as the “website”), conducting website analyses, and monitoring the users’ usage habits.

This cookie policy is an integral part of www.casalavanda.com.tr subscriber agreement.

This cookie policy (“policy”) is prepared by CASA LAVANDA to inform the users about the types of cookies used on the website and how they can monitor the users’ relevant preferences.

What is a Cookie?

Cookies are small text files containing information that are placed on the device used and/or stored on the network server by the websites browsed by the users. Cookies are created by the servers related to the visited website. The server is capable of remembering whether the user has visited the same website more than once.

Cookies do not contain personal data of the website users such as name, surname, sex, e-mail address, phone number or street address. For more information about cookies, please visit the following websites www.aboutcookies.org and www.allaboutcookies.org.

What Are the Type of Cookies?

It is possible to categorize the cookies based on the owners, expiration dates, and intended uses:

Site cookies and third party cookies are used based on the party placing such cookie. While site cookies are created and used by CASA LAVANDA on the website, third party cookies are managed by other companies collaborating with CASA LAVANDA.

Session cookies and persistent cookies are used based on the active time. While session cookies are removed as soon as the user leaves the website, persistent cookies may be stored on the devices used by the users to browse the website for various periods based on intended use.

Technical cookies, authentication cookies, targeting/advertising cookies, customization cookies and analytical cookies are used on the website based on the intended use.

What Are the Cookies Used For?

Cookies are used on the website for the following purposes:

Perform the functions required to carry out the activities of the website. For example, to keep the items of the CASA LAVANDA subscribers in their carts as long as they are on the website. Once the subscribers are logged in, they will not be asked to enter password or login when visiting other pages/tabs of the website.

To examine the website analytically, and improve its performance. For example, integration of the website with various servers, identifying the number of users using the website, and accordingly, adjusting the performance or making sure that the subscribers find what they are looking for on the website easier.

To improve the website functionality and streamline its usage. For example, sharing to other social media sites view the website, and remembering the usernames or search histories the next time they visit the website.

Carrying out customization, targeting, and advertising activities. For example, displaying relevant advertisements to the users based on their areas of interest by taking into account the browsed pages and products.

How Can You Manage Your Cookie Preferences?

CASA LAVANDA allows the users to make use of preferences intended for their personal data. However, there are no preferences regarding certain cookies which are required for the website functionality. Moreover, some of the functions may not work at all in case certain cookies are disabled.
